Volcano 2000 watt heater set the standard for heater performance.

Its the perfect balance between size, price, durability and functionality. The compact unit is only 18 inches long, and is the first 2000 watt heater that has a 500 psi safety valve mounted on the inside of the housing. Most heaters don't even have a safety valve! It also has a built in check valve to prevent a back flow of pressure against the pressure pump head.

Contains a built in 20 amp, push button, resetable circuit breaker. Green LED light lets you know you have power and the heating element is on. Once you set the wand down the dual thermostat system places the unit on standby at 210°F until you start using the water again. A built in 25 ft power cord and hose wrap is standard of the unit, as is a 6ft pressure hose, and it still weighs only 15 lbs.

The housing is made of a rust free, chip resistant plastic, and the housing, handle, and cord wrap all remains cool during use. Top mounted handle can also be used to secure to your cleaning extractors handle with a Velcro strap or cable tie. This unit gives you an awesome 30 degree temperature rise!!
