Description

New from Tucker® is the Honey Badger range of brushes. Designed and tested by solar panel cleaning companies.
The Honey Badger features our incredibly popular Glide bristles on the outside trim and a much stiffer bristle on the inside trim. This allows for an aggressive scrub on the panel designed to remove bird dropping and as many testers have reported, even bee droppings from time to time. Hence the name, Honey Badger.
Those looking for an aggressive scrub on windows will also benefit from this brush.
This configuration here is the popular Alpha model shown with built in rinse bar and swivel.
Note: The rinse bar is not typically intended to be run simultaneously with the brush jets. To do this, you would need to attach an additional 5/16" Y Fitting and a few inches of standard 5/16" OD Pole Tubing. A kit for this is available HERE.
