Unlimited freedom
The Mosmatic air-system boom offers optimal freedom of movement when vacuuming and drying vehicles thanks to the smooth 360-degree or 180-degree rotation of the air boom. There are no hoses lying around on the ground, which prevents annoying dirt accumulation and premature wear and tear of hoses.

Versatile combinations
Regardless of whether it is outside or inside the self-service wash bay, various types of the air-system booms allow a wide array of installation choices. When combined with other Mosmatic products, an optimal use of space and design is possible.

Three different connection options
Can be connected above, to the side or below. Mosmatic adapts to your requirements.

Self-lubricated bearings
The connecting component between the axle and the air tube is the rotating and pivotal point. Because this area experiences the most intense pressure, top-quality, self-lubricating bearings are used, which also reduces the amount of maintenance needed.

Polished stainless steel (inox)
A strong and visually elegant design are a priority for all Mosmatic products. We use polished stainless steel (INOX) for all our products protecting them from rust and extreme weather conditions.

Rotates 360 degrees or 180 degrees
To provide optimal freedom of movement, the air-system boom is offered in a 180-degree rotating version for wall installation or in a 360-degree rotating version for ceiling installation.
