Question and Answers
Which Goliath model is right for you?
Four different cleaning water pressure pressure options.
How much pressure do you want and do you want a heater installed?

- 1. The heated 1700 psi unit the pump and heater combo. When using the heater, the pumps has to stay outside and you use the customer cold garden hose water. (Advantage: Most aggressive and fast cleaning for both carpet and tile cleaning. Heats the water to 250 degrees from cold garden hose.
- 2. On the 1200 psi cold/warm Water Otter system: You take everything inside and use the customers hot water supply and clean with the water temperature that is provided by the building. (Advantages: Pump fits on top of the Goliath during transport. Easy to lift in an out of the service vehicle. Quickly turns down to lower pressures for carpet and upholstery cleaning.)
- 3. Their is also a 500 psi all-in-one machine that has an optional of a heat exchanger. Tile cleaning option can also be performed but you would have to purchase one of the other 1200 psi pumps. (Advantage: If all you ever going to do is carpet cleaning, upholstery cleaning, water extraction, and air duct cleaning, this option keeps the machine on two power cords and rolls in the building as one unit.)

4. High flow extraction cleaning. This is where you use 65 psi building water pressure to clean but you change the jet on your cleaning wand/tools to a jet that is 3 times larger. More water and less pressure. (Advantage: light weight, nothing to break, smallest investment. Primarily used in apartment cleaning)
All models of Goliaths can do flood restoration and air duct cleaning.

This portable carpet cleaning machine is impressive. I have not seen an portable in 30 years that works as well as this one does.

The design of this machine was first started because customer used to ask us "I want to purchase a portable and leave in the truck. What machine has enough power to do this?" At the time none did. Every issue was addressed in this design from:

- More heat: Accomplished by direct connect (can be up to 15 degrees hotter than suction feed portables) to hot water supply and heat exchanger (free energy up to 30 degree hotter than non heated machines). Compare this to a traditional heated carpet machine, they usually only get a 20 degree rise on top of the starting water temperature because of all the loss of heat while the water is sitting in the fresh tank.
- Less electricity: accomplished by using a heat exchanger instead of traditional heating rod. The number one reason portable trip breakers is because the heaters use a lot of electricity. Once we found a system that heated water as well as any electric system, we can use more electricity for vacuum. We all know that this is the most important thing to look for in an extractor. Drier carpet lead to happier customers.
- Less weight: No fresh water tank. Why do you need one? I cannot think of a single instance that you need a fresh water tank that cannot be replaced by just placing the connection hose in a bucket, bath tub, toilet tank, trash can...
- The best vacuum possible for two power cords: We tested over a dozen different vacuum motors in different configuration, amp draw, cfm, inches of lift, series VS parallel. This machine meet the best of inches of lift and cfm with the best heat for the heat exchanger.
- Faster Cleaning by more water pressure: Accomplished by direct connect system. Most sucten feed machines have a huge pressure drop between use and standby water pressure. With the extra building pressure helping push on the water pressure the pumps last longer and just work better.
- Summary: Faster Cleaning Accomplished by auto fill, auto dump, and more water actual water pressure while the cleaning tool is in use, better dry time, longer hose runs, larger auto dump to also do flood restoration, Zero clog dump valve, automatic defoaming, easier stair climbing. The machine does not have to follow you around the house. Set up in one place and just use extra hose. This machine works with all power wands. In the past power wands where only available to truckmounted carpet cleaning users. The Goliath can operate the RX20, Rotovac, DriMaster, Hoss700, PEB, PowerMate, SpinMaster, etc...
